

5-13-2006

CURRICULUM VITAE

DEAN C. LOMIS, B.A, M.A.,Ph.D.

Native of Gary, Indiana and graduate of its Froebel High School (1951)

B.A., Southern Methodist University, Education (1955)

M.A., East Texas State University, Educational Administration (1965)

Ph.D., Texas A&M University, Higher Education Administration, with emphasis in International Education (1967)

United States Air Force Intelligence Officer:

1955-56, Flight training, Houston, Texas

1956-58, Air Force Intelligence Headquarters, Frankfurt Germany

1958-60, Office of the Air Attache, American Embassy, Athens Greece

1960-1968, Teacher, Mesquite High School, Mesquite, Texas

1968-1969, State Department review of U.S. European Schools, based in Athens, Greece.

1969-1996: Director of the University of Delaware International Center; and Professor of "Modern Greek," Department of Foreign Languages, College of Arts & Sciences; "Patterns of International Social Conduct," Communication Department, College of Arts & Sciences; "Administration Of International Educational Affairs" – Graduate Course, Department of Educational Leadership, College of Education.

1981-1990: 4 two-year terms was elected National Chairman of AHIPAC (American Hellenic Institute Public Affairs Committee) Washington DC.

Travel: all 50 United States and 50 foreign countries.

Past member of several Professional and Civic Organizations.

Author of several professional articles and presenter of several professional lectures on International Education and Hellenic Public Affairs and Studies.

Father of three Physician sons: Van, in Baltimore, Maryland: Internal Medicine; Nick, Fayetteville, North Carolina: Interventional Radiology; Michael, Nashville, Tennessee: Pathology/Hematology; and Grandfather of six grandsons and two Younger granddaughters.